An amusing incident happened yester-day morning when Matty and Chief Meyers were looking over the Capital. After taking in a couple of art galleries and other places where oil paintings were on exhibition, a friend asked Chief Meywhat were his favorite paintings. Giants' Twirler Defendant - Fan Seeks to Recover: $5,000.

New York, Dec. 8 .- Christy Mathewson, the Giants' crack pitcher, is defendant in in which Frank Schmidt seeks to recover $5,000 for alleged false arrest.

While a game in which Mathewson was playing was in progress at Washington Park on April 30, 1908, a ball came whizzing to the stand in which Schmidt was rooting, and could not be recovered. Mathewson, as alleged, accused Motto of the six-day cyclist: of taking it as a souvenir, and had him arrested and held at the police station for two hours before he was released.

By "LEN" COLLINS.

The second annual meeting of the Washington City Bowling Association was held at the Palace Bowling Alleys. last night, and the only matter of interest to local bowlers taken up was the appointment of a tournament committee by President Chase. This committee is omposed of all the presidents of the different leagues and should prove to be one of the best steps taken by the city association officials toward swinging the men into line. Heretofore it has always been the policy of the executive committee to appoint its tournament committee mainly from the ranks of those who have volunteered their services. While their efforts were met with a certain degree of success, it nevertheless emains a fact that they could not hope accomplish as much as a president of a league, who is constantly in touch with the men of his league. The executive ommittee has set the 18th as the day closing the entries, and bowlers who have intentions of entering the different events should get themselves together and send in their applications for mem bership in the city association at the earliest possible date so as to expedite the work of the tournament committee

The Ohio State Bowling championships which were held on the Erie alleys in leveland, came to a close last night and the scores show that some very high class bowling was indulged in.
